Origin

The Bombay cat originated in the United States during the 1950s, thanks to breeder Nikki Horner. Horner aimed to create a breed with the grace and striking looks of a black panther. By crossing Burmese cats with American Shorthairs, she achieved the Bombay's iconic black coat and captivating appearance. The breed gained official recognition by The International Cat Association (TICA) in 1976 and by the Cat Fanciers' Association (CFA) in 1981.
